In Sevilla and 350 other European cities it will be held on September 25 The European Researchers' Night. Under the slogan 'Women and men who do science for you', nearly a hundred researchers of the Spanish National Research Council (CSIC), and the Universities of Sevilla and Pablo de Olavide, with the cooperation of the City of Sevilla, will offer a total of 46 activities, including workshops, micro-meetings and entertainment, with the aim of bringing scientific research to the public.

At 19:00 h. in the Tent 4/CSIC in Seville's Plaza Nueva, the Instituto de Microelectronica de Sevilla proposes an activity called Miniaturízate: viaja al interior de un chip microelectrónico.

19:00 h New Technologies. Micro-Meeting

MINIATURÍZATE: VIAJA AL INTERIOR DE UN CHIP MICROELECTRÓNICO

We use them every day, but do we know how they work and what are microchips made of?
